WELCOME

On behalf of the WCET® - ASCN UK 2024 Congress Organising Committee, it gives us great pleasure to invite you to exhibit and/or sponsor the 23rd WCET® Biennial Congress in association with ASCN UK entitled Weaving Culture & Expertise to Offer the Best Patient Care.

This congress will give us all the opportunity to embrace new ideas on stoma, wound and continence management, empowering us to render a professional service to those in need of special care.

Exhibiting at the WCET® - ASCN UK 2024 Congress will give you the opportunity to showcase your products and services and connect with the most influential professionals in the stoma, wound and continence care fields. Joint Congress sponsors can choose from a wide range of packages and options to demonstrate your company's intent for furthering research and development in stoma, wound and continence care.

Don't miss this important opportunity to connect with your colleagues and Joint Congress delegates from around the world!

We look forward to welcoming you to Glasgow, Scotland in September 2024!

Sincerely,

The WCET®-ASCN UK Joint Congress Organising Committee

Dear Green Place

GLASGOW

BACKGROUND ON THE WCET®

The Mission, Vision and Values statements of the World Council of Enterostomal Therapists® identifies the WCET® as “A unique Global Organisation and leader in the specialty of Ostomy, Wound and Continence care.”

WCET® CORE VALUES

The World Council of Enterostomal Therapists® aspires to the core values of:

- Respect - for the dignity and individual diversity of all persons
- Integrity - adherence to a recognised code of ethics
- Communication - fostering collaboration between members and other interested parties
- Holistic care - encompassing care for body, mind and spirit
- Scientific approach - advancement of research and evidence-based specialised education and care

The evolution of Enterostomal Therapy nursing is attributed to the visions of two very dedicated pioneers: Dr Rupert Turnbull, a colorectal surgeon at the Cleveland Clinic in the USA and Norma N Gill, a former patient who had undergone stoma surgery. Both were visionary in their belief that there was a need for specialized nursing care for those individuals who had undergone ostomy surgery. Hence, Enterostomal Therapy was founded in the 1970's.

The WCET® celebrated 45 years of advancement in Enterostomal Therapy Nursing in 2023 and is proud of the standards now offered in international Enterostomal Therapy Nursing care. The WCET® is committed to serving the needs of patients and health professionals and is focused on providing a global forum for international debate, discussion and ideas. The WCET® actively encourages members to contribute to the WCET® Journal, share Enterostomal Therapy Best Practice news and techniques and participate in the WCET® Congress.

Association of Stoma Care Nurses UK

BACKGROUND ON ASCN UK

The Association of Stoma Care Nurses (ASCN UK) is a UK-based registered Charity (formally known as World Council of Enterostomal Therapists UK (WCET® UK)). As a group of specialist practitioners, we are primarily focused on developing and advancing the specialist knowledge required to deliver expert healthcare to individuals with a stoma, ileo anal pouch or requiring complex fistula wound management.

The Association's objectives shall be to

- Drive the development and dissemination of evidence based, best practice stoma care and be recognised as the vanguard of this for all healthcare settings.
- Define and promote consistency in standards of care, enabling advocacy, improved outcomes and experience for people living with a stoma
- Spearhead global collaboration between stoma care nurses, to drive improvement, education and protect the professional standing of our members.
- Represent and promote the stoma care specialism within healthcare and political arena's to safeguard services for the future

ASCN UK also celebrated its 10 years anniversary, during this time ASCN UK have developed their Stoma Care Nursing Standards and Audit tool which have supported countless numbers of specialist nurses in developing their own practice and service to enhance the care offered to individuals living with a stoma. ASCN UK also have a vast portfolio of Clinical Guidelines available to members which again are a valuable asset in improving standards and quality of care given within this specialist sphere of practice.
